Opinion upon Cotton.

The Summer Watchman says: We are indebted to a friend for the following extract from a letter of an old and highly intelligent Cotton Factor of New York:

"The dissatisfaction with the price of cotton is natural, and if you had said, 'dissatisfaction' we would have easily understood it. It is a fearful indeed, and will ruin many people. But there is no visible reason for anticipating any advance to compensate for holding, and our friends will be wise if they ship as soon as they can. Colonel C. will have given you the figures which exhibit the facts, viz: in a word, that our big war taught Europe how to do without American cotton, i. e., by so stimulating the production in all other cotton producing countries as to make up the needed supply as far as necessities go, for the world, independent of American cotton. This is the case boiled down. The production in India (Hindustan) has very nearly quadrupled since '60. We are not 'Bears' in cotton. We are friends of cotton and cotton growers, and wish it was $1.00 per pound, and couldn't be had except in our Southern States, but the facts are against us and it would be folly to blind our eyes to the facts. Hence, we endeavor to put the matter honestly before our constituents as we see and understand it. * * *

Grapes on Elms.

At the winter meeting of the Illinois State Horticultural society Mr. John B. Turner, a successful grape-grower, advocated the growing of grapes on Elms. He said:

When years ago I taught Latin to boys we used to read of the ancients letting their grape vines clamor on elms, but I thought little of the statement as a practical suggestion. But I find that I cannot keep my vine out of the elms. If I plant near an elm the vines go up into it. I have one vine that, despite my remonstrances, insists on going into the top of one of my elms. From it I sold during the past year $100 worth of grapes. I am, therefore, tolerably well satisfied with its willfulness; for these grapes did not cost me a cent for culture or care. I am now planting live stakes in my orchard; and elm stakes they are. Such stakes will save the annual cost of training and pruning and, judging from my experience, they will insure fruitfulness.

THE CROPS.—The report of the Department of Agriculture for October says of the wheat crop:

It will surmount the figures of last year by 40,000,000, to 50,000,000, but will not reach the amount which should have been attained upon the ratio of increase made between 1850 and 1860 by 20,000,000. As an approximate estimate upon the present data, 220,000,000 to 225,000,000 of bushels may be received as the crop of the entire country for 1867. The aggregate yield of oats will exceed 280,000,000, or be about three per cent. above that of 1866.

WHEN TO PLOW FOR CORN.—A rolling field of mellow soil, long in grass, is to be broken up, and put in corn next spring. The corn will do quite as well if planted on a fresh turned sod. Grub worms will suffer if the plowing be done late this fall. What shall be done? We think it depends on the answers to two questions. Will the land wash if the winter is open and we have hard rains? If so, let it lie in sod. Will you have plenty of time to do the plowing next spring, or will you be crowded with work?

Useful Recipes.

GRAHAM BREAD.—To every quart of unbolted wheat meal add one cup of molasses, and one tablespoonful of lard or butter. Make it up with milk and yeast. When risen, work in a little soda, make in into loaves, raise again, and bake.

GINGER DROPS.—Two tablespoonfuls of molasses, one of lard, half a cup of sour milk, one teaspoonful of soda. Will be better with one egg, but can be made without. Flour enough to make a batter that will drop easily. Bake quickly.

WORTH KNOWING.—A poison of any conceivable description and degree of potency, which has been swallowed, intentionally or by accident, may be rendered instantly harmless by swallowing two gills of sweet oil. An individual with a very strong constitution should take twice the quantity. This oil will neutralize every form of vegetable or mineral poison with which the physicians and chemist are acquainted.

HOW TO CURE BONE FELONS.—As soon as it becomes apparent that a felon is making its appearance, which is known by continued soreness and pain proceeding from the bone, and sometimes evincing but little change for the worse for a week or month, take a strong cord and wrap it around the finger at the afflicted part, as tightly as it can be borne. Keep it in this condition until the pain can be endured no longer. Now loose the cord; as soon as the pain or soreness caused by the cord subsides, tighten it again. Continue this for several days, until the felon is completely blackened and killed. We have known several persons who have been afflicted with felons, to try this remedy, with complete success; in fact we have never known it to fail. The cord stops the circulation, and thus the soreness has nothing to feed on, and soon dies of starvation. We have faith in this remedy.
